Re: Fire at Les Pecheries de Chez Nous, Canadian Lobster Processor in Canada

To: President of The Stock Exchange of Thailand

On 21 May, 2020 there was a fire at the Chez Nous lobster processing plant in Tracadie-Sheila, New Brunswick, Canada. Local fire personnel responded swiftly, and the management team at the plant continue to work with local authorities, fire and police personnel.

At the time of the fire, there were approximately 330 employees working at the plant. All employees have been accounted for with no injuries reported. The cause of the fire and extent of the damage is still being assessed. The plant carries insurance against damage caused by fire.

Thai Union Group owns 100 percent of Chez Nous which, in 2019, contributed approximately 1.9 percent of annual Group revenue.

Please be informed accordingly and consider further dissemination to investors. We will be able to provide further updates as they become available.

Yours sincerely,

Thai Union Group Public Company Limited
